DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

2. Claims 1,2,4-12, and 14-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hornak et al(GB 2324919 of record)

The reference by Hornak et al discloses a demodulator(see figures 12,18 and pp. 21-22) comprising a Local Oscillator means(127), mixer(123), and LPF(205,207); an

A/D converter is shown in figure 18. Inherently, due to time sharing, the control signal for the switch(135) is two times the symbol frequency of the digital input signal. Two serially arranged information parts are obtained from the A/D converter output. The method steps being inherent.

The reference by Hornak et al does not explicitly state the relationship, i.e. the offset between the modulated signal band center and local oscillator center frequency, however, due to the similar structure and endeavor as noted above, and the description on page 22 of the reference it would have been recognized that such an offset relationship exists in order to make the circuit operate as intended. The local oscillator frequency is shifted with respect to the center frequency of the signal band.

In light of the above it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have recognized that the same structure and endeavor as applicants is provided for by the Hornak et al reference and that there exists an offset between the LO center frequency and the signal band center frequency to take advantage of the time sharing circuit construct.
